

McIntyres Salons Infrared Heating, Dundee

Three times Scottish Hairdresser of the Year McIntyres, have 2 modern salons in Dundee with an emphasis on customer care and comfort. We were asked to recommend a more efficient way to heat the salons and control the thermal comfort of an environment which can fluctuate from cold to hot when multiple hairdryers are in use.

Assessment & Recommendation

The main objectives were to provide an energy efficient heating system that would compliment the aesthetics of the salons. A fully programmable and thermostatically controlled system was equally important to ensure McIntyres clients felt comfortable whilst being pampered.

Recommended measures

- 3 No. Largewave R600 smooth white glass heating panels - mounted on the bulkhead above the hair stations.
- Redwell WE1400 "Private Print" panels showcasing Kay McIntyres portfolio.
- Redwell WE910 ceiling mounted panel, maintaining valuable retail space in the reception area.
- Salus wireless programmable heating controls - allowing for areas to be zoned for optimum control and efficiency.

Implementation

Installation was co-ordinated to ensure minimum disruption to the busy salons. GoSustainable fully installed and commissioned the Redwell system over 2 days whilst the salons were closed.
